About the most sensible exhibition to be seen in Boston at the present time is the baby ow. It is composed of 300 cooing, dimplecheeked, drooling, fist-gnawing infants, in the various stages of lacteal culture and effluvia. To doubt their united squalls are nearly as chorus. -A negro senator in Louisiana approached Governor Warmouth with a long petition for the removal of obnoxious white (Moials: but they happened to be Warmouth's friends, and he checkmated the dark senator by sternly inquiring whether the petition had been recorded in the office of the Recorder of Mortgages. Well, Gov'nor, I don't know 'zacktly." was the reply. "Then I cannot consider it," responded Warmouth.

-Two citizens of Jackson, Mississippi, havng gone on a fishing expedition on Pearl River, I ound themselves, at the end of the second day, at Madisonville without money. Inquiring for the sheriff of the county, they told him that they had escaped from the penitentiary at Jackson; that they had nothing to eat and had come to him to give themselves up. The sheriff, thinking that he would be rewarded, took them back to Jackson and went to the keeper of the prison and told how he came by kis prisoners. His scorn and indignation may he imagined at finding himself the victim of a meractical toke.

-A New York letter of Thursday says : "The enswer to the application of Mr. Grossbeck to have a receiver appointed for the Trinity Church Corporation, was read in court to-day by the counsel for Trinity. Counsel was rather sharp in his remarks, replying to the charge sectantism a failure," that the word Protestant that the privilege of the elective franchise mon Prayer. As to other charges, counsel simply replied that the church was conferring nse benefits, even upon the plaintiff more than he deserved. Judge McCunn will mender a decision in a few days."

-The Boston correspondent of the New York Tribune thus relates an incident of General Crant's visit, which occurred on Wednesday "At last the President came, escorted by more dignitaries, and introduced by the Hon. A. H. Eice. What the Governor said, and what Grant said, the telegraph has told you, but not how Great looked as he said it. You could have knocked him down with a feather. Every word was spoken as though, like a swollen cork, it had been drawn with great difficulty; and the speech was delivered in so low a voice as to be maintelligible except to the illuminated. Fi stally, the President faltered and stuck! I me ne use. He could not make a speech."

-The Baltimore Sun of Saturday says: "The zemains of the great tragedian, Junius Brutus Booth, were on Thursday removed from the Baltimore Cemetery, where they were buried some years ago, and reinterred in Greenmount Cometery. The fine monument of the elder Booth has also been removed and will be placed over his remains. It is proposed to place the remains of the children, now buried in Harford County, and those of John Wilkes Booth, side by side in Greenmount Cometery Lot. The members of the family, it is underabood, will be present, and the body of J. Wilkes Booth will be buried during the latter

The rejection of the applications of the solored Doctors Purvis and Augusta for membership in the Medical Society of the District of Columbia is expiting considerable comment. The Washington Star, in explaining the case, says: "The question was simply that of admitting them to social fellowship. The board of examiners of the society granted licenses to Drs. Purvis and Augusts to practice as soon as they made application, and it is claimed that this is the first instance in the country where any medical society has given colored practitioners any status. The society did not quite come up to the mark of receiving the colored doctors into social affiliation, but they have shown themselves quite as exclusive in regard to numerous white applicants in the past." -A Washington dispatch, of the 17th inst. says: "Miss Annie Surratt was married today, at St. Patrick's Church, to Mr. Wm. P. Tonry, a chemist employed in the Surgeon-General's office. The ceremony, which was wary private, was conducted by Ray. Father Walter, assisted by Rev. J. J. Kane. The hapmy couple started immediately on a bridal tour North. The bride appeared in better health Shan she has enjoyed for years. It was the desire of the parties that the marriage should se strictly private, and the usual publication ns was for this reason dispensed By Archbishop Spalding. There were no bridesmaids or groomsmen. The bride was astended by her brother Issee, while John H. Surrett ecoupied a seat in a pew in front of the altar. These and a few intimate acquaintances

THE DAILY NEWS, sunounced on the bills as Lills and Zoe. One of of Mr. Cheney, was the fact that the use or their feate consists in Lills, a full-grown young woman, swinging herself from a platform erected in front of the gallery, entirely across the auditorium, until she touches with her feet a trapeze that hangs at considerable altitude over the orchestra. Securing herself on this trapeze with her feet, her body swings downwards, and she remains in that position while Zoe, a child of 11 years of age, mounts the platform in the gallery, and seizing two iron rings throws herself off, and darts towards Lilla, and when nearing her the child throws a somersault in mid-air, and her only chance from being crushed to death by falling from the dizzy height among the audience in the parquette, is being caught by Lilla, who hangs with her head downwards from the trapeze. Certain death would be the result of the slightest mistake made by either of the performers. On Saturday evening, Lilla barely caught the child, who afterwards fell while being let down to the stage. Although severely injured, she was notwithstanding mos inhumanly ordered to remount the platform in the gallery and repeat the feat. The child obeyed; but such conduct on the part of those having charge of the exhibition was too much for the audience to stand, and there was a unanimous cry of "No, no!" "Shame, shame!" "Take her back," "Take her back," etc. In the meantime the child mounted the platform. and then stood ready to repeat the feat; but the audience rose en masse, to their great credit, and prevented the ropes from being anded to her. Unable to combat such a display of public indignation and dis approval, he child was ordered to retire, which she did amid the most tumultuous applause.

The Irish Church Bill. At three o'clock, on Saturday morning, the British House of Lords passed the Irish Church bill to a second reading. This overcomes the first danger of a collision between the hereditary Chamber and the House of Commons, backed by the will of the nation. But the bill has yet to run the gauntlet of the amendments which will; doubtless, be proposed. The House of Commons will, of course, consider dispassionately any amendments that may be made by the Lords, but no change can be suggested sufficient to satisfy the Tory peers which would not destroy the vital principle of the bill, and such an amendment the Commons cannot and will not accept. If the Peers confine themselves to questions of detail, with the object of letting the Irish Church down easily and gently, they may do some good; but any important change would nullify the whole measure, so cautiously has it been drawn and se great is the dependence the one on the other of its different provisions. The nation demands the whole bill, and will be satisfied with noth-

The Tennessee Elections.

The canvass in Tennessee has assumed new phase, the extreme Radicals having swung round from the old cry of proscription to the new doctrine of removing all political disabilities. There are two candidates for Governor in the field-Senter and Stokes, both Radicals. Senter, by the resignation of Parson Brownlow, now United States Senator, became acting Governor of the State. He is supported by Brownlow, who, after laboring for four years to fill the statute books with proscriptive legislation, is now writing dogmatic letters in which he declares that for the Tennessee Radicals to continue the restrictive policy is mischievous and ridiculous. should be restored and extended, so as embrace the mass of the adult population of the State. Stokes bids as high as Senter, and, between the two, disfranchisement in Tennessee is believed to be at an end.

It is generally admitted, however, that the Senter party have repented at the eleventh hour for the sake of success. And vet Senter holds the election in his own hands, for Brownlow's franchise laws give the Governor the power to appoint Registration Commissioners, who will only grant certificates to men of the right stripe. That he should have made a bid for popularity is a proof that his party feel that if they persist in disfranchising the rebels. after awhile the rebels may in turn disfranchise them. But it will take about two years to amend the constitution by striking out the disfranchising clauses, and there are hundreds of conservative Republicans who opposed Brewnlow in his extreme intolerance, who will now as firmly oppose his extreme liberality. None of the Tennessee Radicals can be trusted, and while both parties are Radicals, it matters but little which side whips. There is, it seems, some alarm in both camps. One vicioni Radical writes that " if both Senter and "Stokes run to the end the Demograts will be found, after their votes are counted next 'August, to have sleeted Andrew Johnson "Governor of Tennessee," and that "such an event will require the presence of a large Union army in the State or the quiet exodus "of the loyal whites and their colored "friends." This fellow is evidently soured, but there is some hope yet for Radical-ridden Tennessee. The Church Militant.

The battle field of the High and Low Church wings of the Episcopal communion s now in the West, the Rev. Charles E. Cheney, of Chicage, being charged with omitting the word "regenerate" in the baptismal service of the church. This practice he has pursued openly for some time, and justifies himself on the ground that he does not believe baptism to be a regenerating ordinance, and that if he should employ the word in the connection in which it is given in the Book of Common Prayer, he might convey to his heavers a false idea of his views on the subject. Upon being ramonstrated with by Bishop Whitehouse, his discount, he has positively declined to use the discarded word. He, therefore, stands charged drat, with non-conformity with the doctrines of the Church; and, second, with refusing to "reverently obey!" his bishop. It is the case of Mr. Tate ever formity complained of constate in abridging, not adding to, the liturar of the shurch.

What heat peculiar significance to the case, no Johnson to the property of the

er Propriotor, ean heast

disuse of the word "gogenerate" was one of the subjects specially noted for censideration by the Chicago Episcopal Conference which met last week, ite main object being to obtain a revision of the Book of Common Prayer, from the first page to the last. This proposition gave rise to a long discussion; but the Conference immediately before adjourning adopted the following esolutions:

Resolved, As the opinion of this Conference, that a careful revision of the "Book of Comnon Prayer" is needful to the best interests of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

Resolved, That all words or phrases seeming o teach that the Christian ministry is a priesthood, or the Lord's Supper a sacrifice, or that egeneration is inseparable from baptism, should be removed from the "Prayer Book."

There is reason, however, to believe that he action of the Conference will not have any present influence upon the great body of Episcopalians. The movement is not countenanced, we believe, by a single one of the bishops belonging to the Low Church party. Some whose sympathy was relied upon, deprecate in strong terms any meddling with the time-henored liturgy. To them, the Book of Common Prayer is a volume second only in sanetity and authority to the Scriptures themselves, and there are not a few who regard it as equally inviolable. On the question of preserving the integrity of the Prayer Book, the House of Bishops are doubtless a unit, and probably nineteen-twentieths of the clergy agree with them. Thus Bishop Lee, of Iews, regards the Prayer Book as "the best aid to devo-"tion that man hath ever provided for the "public worship of Almighty God;" and adds: "Its asserted 'germs' of error may just as truly be asserted of the Bible "itself." Bishop Lee, of Delaware, complains of the "harsh, captious and unfair" tone adopted by the revisers. Bishop Eastburn, of Massachusetts, has not "the slight-"est desire" for revision, and observes that "a certain portion of the Evangelical clergy have entirely shifted their ground, and "are claiming that the reformers are them-"selves, in this very Prayer Book, respen-"sible for the unprotestant teaching and deeds of the Romanizers in our fold." Bishops McIlvaine, Stevens, Vail, and others, all speak in a similar strain. These are the leaders of the Lew Church party, than whom none are more opposed to the spread of ritualism. They propose to resist, as heretofore, any departure from the standards of doctrine and discipline adopted by that portion of the church with which they are affiliated; but they positively decline to consent to a revision of the Prayer Book.

Under these circumstances, it is not likely that the liturgical changes proposed by the Chicago Conference will have many supporters; but the men who composed it were ia earnest, and will not give up their views because they are unpopular. The result may be that a number of discontented Episcopal clergymen and laymen will find their way into other religious bedies.
